

Blossom into Radiant Health with Advanced Light Therapy!

By Adora Deva

Just as Plants need sunlight to thrive, researchers have found that light activates the body's own healing capability at the molecular level. It takes only 30 minutes to jump-start the body's own synergistic healing and anti-aging processes!

Advanced Photon Therapy is based on years of research in the fields of Einstein's Nobel Prize winning discovery of photo-electrics, tissue optics and quantum biology.

At the cellular level, light photons are transformed into ATP, the life force or energy currency of all living bodies. This is why people feel re-charged and revitalized after each Advanced Light session. You can re-activate your body's own healing and anti-aging processes for health, longevity and cosmetic benefits.

These bio-active photons are absorbed through the skin and conducted by the body's connective tissue to every organ of the body, conveying regenerative energy. In one sense this is like super acupuncture. In modern research, French, Russian and Swiss scientists have verified that the body's connective tissue works like a fiber optic system – meaning it conducts photons of light energy throughout the body.

Photons are the purest healing energy in the universe

Traditional photo therapy has been used successfully for years by dermatologists for treating skin problems, by sport medicine clinics for treating injuries, and wellness centers for relieving body aches and pains. But this is where Advanced Photon Therapy leaves the old paradigm of light therapy behind with its remarkable advances in the science.

After 20 years of research and millions of dollars in product development, inventor, Mellen-Thomas Benedict has developed a regenerative technology that addresses the main health issues that people struggle with most in today's world: restful sleep, profound stress relief and replenished energy.

Mellen's system provides three therapeutic programs. Each proprietary program gives you the equivalent of a full night's sleep. When we sleep, our brain repairs damage caused by our busy life style, replenishes cellular energy and even grows new neurons – especially during deep sleep with 'deep theta' brainwaves.

The Rejuvenation Program is ultra-healing for the entire body, boosting collagen production to the face, reducing wrinkles and repairing aged skin.

The Relief Program provides systemic (full body) pain relief by reducing inflammation, nerve stress and muscle tightness.

The Bluewave Program provides profound stress relief, is used world-wide for SAD (seasonal affective disorder) and anti-depression. It increases serotonin and alertness, resets the body's biological 'circadian' clock, provides dramatic help with sleep disorders and helps with 'jet lag'.
